Two long-time Miami law firms that operate in the construction and real estate sectors have decided to join forces. The merger combines Hyman & Mars, with 10 attorneys, and Siegfried Rivera, Lerner, De La Torre & Sobel, with 28 attorneys. Siegfried Rivera ranked 42 on the Business Journal's 2013 list of the Top 150 Largest Law Firms in South Florida.

The new firm will launch July 1 and be called Siegfried, Rivera, Hyman, Lerner, De La Torre, Mars & Sobel, P.A. "After competing against Michael and his colleagues for the last 35 years, we have seen the first-class integrity and style with which they practice law," Steven Siegfried said. "We think this joining is a perfect marriage of skill sets..."

The combined firm will also represent community associations throughout Monroe, Miami-Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties.

The new firm headquarters are in Coral Gables at Siegfried Rivera's offices, 201 Alhambra Circle, with offices in Plantation and West Palm Beach.
